Included in Free Three-Month Trial:

› Upload of sales & marketing content
RepFiles will obtain, organize and upload all non-confidential sales and marketing collateral to the RepFiles NEMRA and NAED apps. You will also have the option of managing content yourself.

› Unlimited storage
An unlimited number of folders and files can be uploaded and delivered through the RepFiles apps.

› Unlimited users
An unlimited number of people can access your content inside the RepFiles apps. The content can be accessible upon approval or available to all registered users.

Custom messages & push notifications

Messages and push notifications can be sent to your authorized users regarding content updates, special promotions, product launches and other company news.

User & file activity reports

Discover who is accessing your content and how often, as well as which files are being downloaded, viewed and shared the most.

Help getting the word out

Once your content is available inside RepFiles, an eblast is sent to all currently registered users, a push notification is sent out through the app and a press release is distributed to tED Magazine and Electrical Wholesaling.

Technical support for all users

Users can contact the RepFiles Support Team at support@repfiles.net to receive one-on-one assistance and company demos, freeing you of the time required to answer their technical questions regarding the app.

A sales agreement will be sent to you after the free three-month trial. You will have 30 days to sign and return the sales agreement in order to continue using the RepFiles system. Discounted annual subscriptions are available for NEMRA and/or NAED manufacturer members for $4,950 per year. This includes access to all RepFiles-branded applications, one storage location, five plugins and two RepFiles Browser licenses. Additional plugins, licenses and storage locations are available for purchase.

If the sales agreement is not signed and returned within 30 days, all content, content management and plugin administrative permissions, plugins and approved users lists will be removed from the RepFiles system.
